

A MESSAGE FROM THE

VICE-CHANCELLOR

Monash is Australia's largest university and, as a result, has an impressive range of activities for students to explore and participate in. As a Monash student, you are encouraged to take full advantage of the unparalleled freedom of your University days to discover new ideas and opportunities.

Today, we have approximately 45,000 memberships across our four campuses for our 211 clubs and societies, which are run by our student organisations. By joining one or more of these groups, you will expand your horizons while completing your studies. You can learn new skills, improve your abilities in areas such as leadership and communication, meet like-minded people and develop long-lasting friendships. Taking part in extra-curricular activities can also help prepare you for life after Monash.

I encourage you to read this guide and choose something that interests you. Monash welcomes and celebrates your participation.

Professor Margaret Gardner AC
President and Vice-Chancellor

MONSU Caulfield

MONSU Caulfield is the student representative association at Monash University Caulfield. We endeavour to create a lifestyle on campus, which enables you to balance study, work and socialising through various events and services.

MONSU Peninsula

The Monash University Student Union (MONSU) Peninsula aims to enhance the university experience of students through a variety of regular events, services and support programs. Student Council consists of elected students who represent all Peninsula campus students. For a full list of services, please head to our website and to stay informed on all our events, please like "MONSUPen" on Facebook. Also, get instant savings on club memberships by purchasing a MONSU card in 2021!

Monash Parkville Student Union

The Monash Parkville Student Union is the governing student body, which acts as the bridge between the faculty staff and the students. As an independent body, MPSU advocates for students' academic, social and economic welfare on and off campus. Collaboratively, the committee (comprised of elected Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Science students) plans and executes events and services for students studying at Parkville.

TEAMMONASH

TeamMONASH is much, much more than sport. It's the spirit of the University. Every Monash student, staff and alumni is already part of TeamMONASH. All you need to do is choose how to participate! TeamMONASH supports and develops the university community in many different areas. You can be an active part of TeamMONASH just by: representing Monash in a varsity competition, joining a sporting club, receiving elite student performer support or helping in one of our volunteer programs. WELCOME TO THE

2021 CLUBS GUIDE

Monash University is home to over 210 unique student run clubs and societies, each of which contribute in their own way to one of the best campus cultures at any Australian University.

The 2021 Monash Clubs Guide lists all of the clubs and societies affiliated to the Monash Student Association's (MSA) Clubs & Societies Division, Monash University Parkville Student Union, MONSU Caulfield, Monash Student Union Peninsula (MONSU Peninsula), and the sporting clubs facilitated by TeamMONASH. This cross-campus collaboration provides a greater level of accessibility to students who study cross-campus.

Now you're here at Monash, you are encouraged to get the most out of your university experience by joining in with activities that build on your academic experiences and provide opportunities to meet people with similar interests. Joining a club (or many clubs) is one of the best ways to develop skills, meet new people and make lifelong friendships. It does take some initial courage and effort to get involved in campus life, however, it will make your time at Monash all the more valuable and memorable.

Why should I join a Club?

Joining a club or society at Monash will not only help you make new friends and make your time studying at university more enjoyable, but it can also help to develop both life and vocational skills which can assist with future employment opportunities. Monash College students are also encouraged to join and participate in club events. Clubs & Societies offer a range of benefits, skills and opportunities including but not limited to:

Peer Connection – A great way to join a new community and find your home away from home; something that is important for those students that have left friends and family behind to study.

Networking – Clubs provide many networking activities that help members develop social or studying networks and the opportunity to interact with professionals through academic events.

Health, Fitness and Teamwork – Whether you play sports to get fit, or just enjoy the feeling that being healthy and active gives you, the clubs available through TeamMONASH allow you to achieve each of these goals.

Community Service – Social welfare clubs provide students with direct opportunities to get involved in community service, both within and outside the Monash community.

Becoming part of a club committee is a highly sought after leadership role that helps build employability skills. By getting involved as an office bearer you will have the opportunity to develop public speaking skills and confidence, develop 'hands on' event skills, as well as gaining valuable leadership and teamwork skills.

How do I join a Club?

If you are interested in joining one of the listed clubs, follow the relevant link to online club listings where you can get further information and contact details.

Contact the club directly via their email or Facebook page, attend campus specific Orientation events in February or attend a club event in person to get involved!

How do I start a new club?

Are you and your friends interested in forming a new club, or putting together a new sports team?

For non-sporting clubs, contact the campus based student association who will discuss your options and the formal application process.

To learn more about the opportunities available through sporting clubs and TeamMONASH, contact the team via their website or visit one of their hubs at the Clayton, Caulfield or Peninsula campuses.
